FOREWORD

The Senior Class has worked diligently to produce this annual which we hope will help you remember one of the most challenging stages in our lives.

It is hoped that within the realms of this book, we have captured and portrayed your ideas and expectations of an annual.

This class has selected for our theme, "The Mirror of Hancock Central High School Reflects . . ." We are hoping that it will reflect the reality of an institution of learning as seen through the eyes of the "Bulldogs."

DEDICATION

During the past twelve years that we have attended Hancock Central High School, we have become indebted to galores of individuals. We owe a great debt to the faculty for their leadership and guidance. We have become indebted to our peers for their understanding, but to our parents, we owe the greatest debt of all.

We would like to express our most sincere gratitude to you parents, for your love, patience, guidance, and inspiration. You have fulfilled our needs with a smile; thus giving us an opportunity to prepare ourselves for the future.

Into every mirror, your reflection is seen. For this, the Senior Class of 1976 would like to dedicate this edition of the "Bulldog" to you.

Editors' Epitaph

Through unceasing efforts and long hours of hard work, the 1975-76 yearbook staff has compiled this annual.

Within the covers of this book, we have attempted to depict in some small manner, the activities of the Hancock Central High School student body during the 1975-76 school term.

We hope each photograph and article of this book will give the reader an insight of how the Bulldog family worked, played, and collaborated with each other during the past semesters.

We would like to extend our most sincere appreciation to Mrs. L.M. Wiley, advisor, for her assistance and guidance in this production.

Our deepest appreciation goes to the staff who worked so diligently with us in making this yearbook a success.

We were proud to have presented to you the 1976 "Bulldog-Reflections."

Soulfully yours,

Clifton Boone
Ronald Harden
Roosevelt Cobb
